

Tenure-Track Assistant Professor in Women's Health

The Center for Interdisciplinary Research in Women's Health at UTMB invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level. Applicants in all areas of research related to women's health will be considered. UTMB has strong research programs in reproductive health, aging, infectious disease, adolescent health and preventative medicine, among others. A strong publication record and experience with grant writing is preferred.

The successful candidate will be provided with a competitive salary and benefits package and given a minimum of 85% protected time for research. They will also be given the opportunity and assistance to establish and maintain an independent, externally funded research program.

Applicants should have a PhD or equivalent degree, a record of conducting research in women's health, and no more than 6 years of research experience following their degree.

Send electronic curriculum vitae, statement of research interests and goals, and the names of three references to:
